

On The journey Together
Vice President's Letter December 2024/January 2025

Welcome Dear Sisters,

How wonderful it was to see Bishop Sarah Grove featured on Sunday 3rd November on National Television.

I would like to congratulate the BBC 'Sunday Morning Live' programme celebrating Grace Hill Moravian Church for being awarded a National award, The UNESCO (The United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization).

The programme featured culture, history, a church preserved with dignity. The Great Wall of China, The Pyramids and The Taj Mahal, all UNESCO sites.

The Moravian Church is the oldest Protestant denomination in the world today having a million Moravians worldwide.

Grace Hill is a Heritage Site, in 1759 beginning as a settlement, a Christian community looking after the vulnerable placing high value on education, believing that it was the key to salvation. Supporting missionary work, the lonely, sick and widows.

Today Grace Hill, a small village in Northern Ireland County Antrim is an active community, the beautiful Grace Hill Church has Theology written in stonework with Georgian windows.

The programme captured the church's faith, expressing their love for community spirit and fellowshiping together.

The people interviewed, such as Bishop Sarah spoke of her thrill receiving the UNESCO award, for Grace Hill.

Derek Hall, a member of Grace Hill Community also spoke portraying goodness and contentment, wonderful to capture in today's modern world when we are threatened with so much suffering.

For 2025 we try even harder to ask God what more we can do for him, particularly when there are attacks in the Christian world.

Therefore we need to keep praying for people in Leadership positions, people with certain status and power to have a moral conscious.

We pray for our safeguarding of children and young people, particularly the vulnerable ones who need to continue to be a priority.

Thank you Grace Hill Church for your encouragement and for radiating happiness this Christmas & New Year.

Thank you sisters, we will keep spreading our Christian experiences and praising God.

Yours in Christ

Sr. Audrey B Kendall
